Our Core Value this half term is—Caring

Message from the Head Teacher

There was a cold start to the week, but we have seen some blue sky and sunshine since. This has helped with our participation in the Great British Bird and Wildlife watch, which we are also extending to cover this weekend. We are blessed with living in a glorious part of the UK with an abundance of birds and wildlife so you should see a range of creatures. I saw a herd of Deer cross the road in front of me, on my way to work this week. So, if you like a purpose to be outside or even just look, look out for some of our feathered friends, they will undoubtedly put a smile on your face.

Keep going everyone, whether home, school, or work, you are all doing amazingly.

Take Care

Mrs Haines
